

HIGH CERTAIN OF STATE CONQUEST

Expects to Take Largest Number of Firsts at Norman Meet

Headed by the High School band in full uniform, the students and teachers of Central high school are going to parade from their special train to the university campus when they arrive in Norman week after next for "The Norman Conquest," as the annual state high school inter-collegiate meet has come to be known at Central high.

Central, without boasting, is expecting to send the largest delegation and take the largest number of firsts in what is the biggest contest of its kind in the United States. There are 22 contests and Tulsa is sending students in virtually all of them. Preliminaries are being held at the school daily and by the process of elimination and survival of the fittest the best trained and best equipped students in the school are being selected to compete for honors at Tulsa high.

Announcement was made Friday morning that Ruth Harkin is the successful contestant in piano and will represent Tulsa at Norman. Tony Rupp won the violin preliminary in character drawing. William Moore will compete in water polo, wearing Lavelle Ford, Irene Becker, Vera Riley and Angeline Hill and in poster design, Vera Riley, Clyde Lundy, Wilma Elliott and Angeline Hill. Gladys Huling has been asked to give a clay modeling demonstration.

Ed (Lore) Mary McIntyre and Pauline Lundy will compete for honors in American, modern and ancient history classes. By process of elimination, selection of the representative narrative is still being made. Forty tried out the first preliminary, the second, and the number is narrowed considerably. The third round, out of the nine best the judges will pick a narrative contestant.

All of the contestants, including the high school band, the orchestra and the glee clubs are going to be heard the first annual contestants' night, April 21, at the high school. Only 40 tickets will be reserved for high school students, the rest of the space being thrown open to the general public.

CLEANING UP HIGH SCHOOL

Students Will Co-Operate With Drive for a Cleaner Tulsa

With its lawns trim, its trees clipped and its flower beds laid out, Central high school is traveling along a few paces ahead of the city clean-up campaign. But the school intends, through the medium of the students, to contribute fully with the municipal drive for a cleaner Tulsa.

The agriculture class members, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Lucile Witte, have assumed the responsibility for the appearance of the high school grounds and anticipating the regular clean-up campaign a little by reason of the fact that the seasonal demands made necessary, they have already cleared off all rubbish, trimmed the lawns and planted flowers. During the clean-up week proper the students are going to sponsor the cleaning up of high school corridors.

Next Wednesday will be house cleaning day for the high school. Tom Garred, chairman of the student committee on clean-up is going to arrange for the cleaning of all lockers in the corridors.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

The Greatest Strike In History

As spring comes slowly up the way, over half a million men, accustomed to spend their days mining coal far underground, are out in the sunshine in their little gardens with their children digging up the soil and planting vegetables, while seedsmen in coal towns report a record business. Coal operators, as their mines are not working, have gone to join their families and play golf at Pinehurst or Hot Springs. Government officials blandly tell us that there is nothing in the coal strike situation to call for Federal intervention, the Secretary of the Treasury perceiving no harm to business in the first weeks.

But, perhaps, the great consuming public must be alarmed, anxious, frantic, in the face of the greatest strike in history, with all the anthracite and most of the soft coal mines shut down, with 600,000 striking miners added to the ranks of the unemployed. Quite the contrary, for, to judge from editorial comment, the public views the coal strike calmly. As one writer puts it, "the public sits as a bored spectator until its bins are empty or its pockets."

It is to be remembered that the strike which began on April 1st is a double-header. Anthracite and soft coal miners are striking together for strategic reasons, but with different ends in view and under different circumstances. The hard coal miners call for a 20 per cent wage increase and their representatives are now in conference with the anthracite operators. The soft coal miners call for the retention of their present wages in the face of the operators' demand for reduction; but the bituminous operators have been unwilling to meet the representatives of the workers in a joint conference to decide on a basic wage-scale. When the strike was called on April 1st some 560,000 union workers, more than 400,000 in the soft coal fields, and an undetermined number of non-union men responded.

For all the particulars—the underlying causes, the situation as it now stands, and the prospects for settlement of this great industrial upheaval—you should read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, April 15th. It presents the strike from all angles. Other leading news-articles in this number of THE DIGEST are:
